OKLAHOMA AT 75- (1907-1982)

Oklahoma is a young state with a bright future. It is rich in many natural resources, such as oil, gas, and coal. Its good soil produces wheat, peanuts, and maize and pastures cattle.

The seasons in Oklahoma are beautiful with red buds blooming in spring, green summers, fall foliage, and the sculpturing of a winter snow.

Oklahoma is blessed with many resources and picturesque' landscapes, but its greatest resource is its people.

Oklahoma was settled by spirited hard working settlers seeking an opportunity to develop an area of new land to provide a home for their families.

The Indians that inhabited the rolling hills and green prairies of the area now known as Oklahoma also provided good contributions in the heritage of our state.

Oklahoma is bursting with opportunities for those who are willing to work toward the development of its resources. It is a young, growing area with a bright future for people who have a dream and who are willing to discipline themselves to work to make that dream become a reality.

Young citizens of a young state, growing up together, the future is what we make it. Your OK, your state's OK, and I believe you will both achieve much success.

Dennis Trammell,
Superintendent
